KNOW THE WEATHER

By E. H. Sims

Do ocean currents swirl to the right in this hemisphere or is this sailor talk, weather folklore?

Ocean currents, just like air masses, swirl or veer to the right in the northern hemisphere. They swirl to the left below the equator.

This is thought to be caused by the rotation of the earth. The effect this has on large bodies of water and the sea of air above the surface of the earth is recognizable. But a hot controversy is likely when one claims that this Coriolis Force as it is sometimes called, extends its power to such minor things as tub water, sink water, etc. —which way the water will swirl when the stopper is removed.

And whether Colliolis Force causes drunks to fall or not is highly debatable. It is probably still safe to assume it is the beverage consumed.

DO IT YOURSELF FAN

London England.- As from now, you can count Alf Smith out of the do-it-yourself brigade.

Alf, 32, a pipefitter, started to paper the kitchen of his suburban home. First he had to strip the walls.

Off with the paper came a little bit of plaster.

Then the chimney toppled into the back yard.

The roof fell in.

Part of the wall fell out.

The floor dropped off.

Alf escaped to cover, then called the professionals.

IN FASHION NOW

Many leading designers here and abroad are giving importance to a fabric that was a great favorite of grandmother's day. Moire is fashion news with a capital M. The body, texture and characteristic design of weave all go to make moire an elegant fabric, perfect for your festive holiday gowns.

The stiffness of moire can be fashioned into intricate bodices and flared or round bubble skirts with a most stylish effect. Moire is often used in cape or puffed mushroom-cap tops on a stem of a dress of softer fabric. A minuscule bodice of finely shirred moire, finished with a puffy harem skirt caught up under the knees, is a popular design.

Moire is found in almost any price range, depending upon the raw produce used to make the moire. The fabric can be made of almost any combination such as rayon and cotton, pure silk, nylon and cotton — the pure silk moire being the most expensive. Any noteworthy moire must have a luminous quality of richness. It is a hearty fabric, but must be cleaned with care and pressed only when needed, and then on the wrong side.

Separates are as popular as ever and the moire skirt coupled with a satin, velveteen, lace or silk blouse, jumper, or camisedolop is hard to beat for style and becomingness on many figure types. This combination is a sandby with the tall girl.

An interesting color that keeps turning up, season after season, in the important collections is shocking pink. This came into being at least nine years ago and has been with us ever since. This winter it has hit an all-time high in demand. Women of all ages find it becoming. It flatters the more mature skin, and by adding a glow of color the and a bit of glamour, and it flatters the young by complimenting the glow of youth.

Shocking pink is one of the outstanding colors for moire. The interesting design of the fabric shows up to advantage in this color, and the luminous quality of the fabric adds more beauty to the color.

The evening coat is often fashioned of moire, and is sometimes made reversible with a color such as shocking pink on one side and stark white on the other. A most effective color combination. The stiffness of the moire makes it perfect for the evening coat, and no lining is needed to make the coat hang right.

Empty Pool - No Baptism

Charlotte, N. C.- Thirty candidates were ready for baptism by immersion when the pastor announced the ceremony would have to be postponed.

Someone had forgotten to fill the baptismal pool.

NARROW ESCAPE

Toledo.- While they were driving to a local garage for repairs, Mr. and Mrs. William Rossman's automobile stalled on a railroad crossing. A fast train was approaching. The couple scrambled from their car. As they dashed away, a step on one of the coaches caught Mrs. Rossman's coat and tore it off, but left her with only minor bruises. The car was demolished.
